Taringatura Park Goes It Alone

The "Sire and Semen Sale", to be held on 10 January by Neville and Sandra Cunningham of Taringatura Park, is a first for New Zealand's leading Elk/Wapiti stud.

Taringatura Park principal Neville Cunningham said the concept of the on-farm sale was to introduce a personal element, currently not achievable at traditional auctions, into the sale of deer genetics.

Mr Cunningham is confident the Premier Sire Team to be offered at the January 10 sale will give stud breeders, commercial deer breeders and specialty venison producers access to genetics not normally available.

In addition to the sire bulls being put up for sale, packages of frozen semen will be offered for sale to national and international buyers, with fresh semen possibly being offered to Southland deer farmers. Technical support for buyers will also be provided if so required, he said.

Mr Cunningham has had 21 years experience breeding deer and has bred top sire bulls for the last 12 years.

"We're proud of the results of our selective breeding programme and the heritability of the animals we have offered for sale.

"These results have been backed up by our successes in the National Velvet Competitions and the performance results achieved by the purchasers of our bulls."
